TECHNIQUE

Alliteration
The repetition of sound in a series or sequence of words.
Example:
“And the silken sad uncertain rustling of each purple curtain” (Poe)

Dissonance
A disruption of harmony or rhythm, for an intended jarring effect; sounds clash with each other.
Example:
“The wind flung a magpie away and a black-Back gull bent like an iron bar slowly”
(Ted Hughes, “Wind”)

A non-literal use of language, such as metaphor or simile.

Metaphor
A figure of speech that helps describe the subject by stating it is something else (object, feeling, idea, place, sound, etc.), often used to give the reader a richer understanding of the subject.
Examples:
1. “The moon was a salt lick
   For her cattle of darkness”
   (Frank Stanford)
2. "'Cause baby you're a firework"
   (Katy Perry)

Objective Correlative
The technique of representing a particular emotion with symbols, images, actions, and events; used to evoke a desired emotional response in the reader.
Example:
“The piercing chill I feel:
my dead wife’s comb, in our bedroom,
under my heel…”
(Taniguchi Buson)

Oxymoron
A figure of speech that conjoins contradictory words.
Examples:
Act natural; pretty ugly; jumbo shrimp; definitely maybe!

Personification
A figure of speech in which a nonhuman thing is described as if it were a person.
Example:
“There was never a sound beside the wood but one,
And that was my long scythe whispering to the ground.”
(Robert Frost, “Mowing”)

Simile
A type of metaphor that compares the subject to something else, using "as" or "like" in order to describe it.
Examples:
1. “What happens to a dream deferred?
   Does it dry up
   like a raisin in the sun?
   Or fester like a sore—
   And then run?”
   (Langston Hughes, "A Dream Deferred")
2. "A day without you is like a year without rain"
   (Selena Gomez)

Symbol
Something that represents or is a sign for something else.
Example:
“Brown and barren” in following poem represent growing old.
“Now the fields are brown and barren,”
FORMS

Haiku
The haiku form originated in Japan and follows the following structure:
- First Line 5 syllables
- Second Line 7 syllables
- Third Line 5 syllables
Traditionally, the subject matter of haikus focused on an aspect of the natural world, and often juxtaposed two images or ideas. For example, in the following poem, the image of leaves and birds are compared.
Example:
The last winter leaves
Clinging to the black branches
Explode into birds.
-unknown

Limerick
Centuries old and almost always humorous, limericks became so popular in the 19th century that newspapers on both sides of the Atlantic held weekly limerick-writing competitions. The Limerick Breakdown:
- Five lines
- A rhyme scheme of aabba (lines 1, 2, and 5 rhyme and lines 3 and 4 rhyme)
- Lines 1, 2 and 5 have 7-10 syllables and lines 3 and 4 have 5-7 syllables
Example:
Is Algebra fruitless endeavor?
It seems they’ve been trying for ever
To find x, y, and z
And it’s quite clear to me:
If they’ve not found them yet then they’ll never.
(Graham Lester)

Prose Poem
Poetry that is not broken into lines, but is instead set out like prose: using flow-on sentences and paragraphs. A prose poem brings elements of poetic and narrative writing together into one form.

Sonnet
A classic form that has inspired poets for centuries, the traditional sonnet has 14 lines, each 10 syllables long. Its rhymes are arranged as either:
ab ab, ccdc, efef, gg - English
abba abba cdecde - Italian

Spoken Word / Slam Poetry
Poetry intended for live performance; roots in hip hop, rap, jazz, and folk; often focuses on contemporary issues, such as social justice, politics, and community.

PARTS & PIECES

Stanza
A group of lines in a poem. Just like a paragraph break, a space between stanzas can indicate a shift in time, tone, or thought; or indicate a pause.

Refrain
A phrase or line repeated throughout a poem.

VERSE

Blank Verse
Unrhyming iambic pentameter.
Example:
My grave is like to be my wedding bed.
But soft, what light through yonder window breaks?
(Shakespeare, Romeo and Juliet)

Couplet
Two successive rhyming lines that are of the same length.
Example:
“The time is out of joint, O cursed spite
That ever I was born to set it right!”
(Shakespeare, Hamlet)

Elision
The deletion of unstressed syllables.
Example:
“ere” for “ever”

Foot
The unit of measurement for meter, usually containing one stressed syllable and at least one unstressed syllable.

Free Verse
Poetry with lines that do not rhyme, or have a regular meter.

Iamb
A foot with one unaccented syllable followed by one accented syllable (the most common meter of poetry).
Example:
In the words, belong and predict, the second syllable is typically accented, so they read beLONG and preDICT.

Iambic Pentameter
A line consisting of five iambs.
(We have bolded the accented syllable in the first line of the verse below. Try reading the verse aloud, clapping on each accented syllable.)
Example:
And I do love thee: therefore, go with me;
I'll give thee fairies to attend on thee,
And they shall fetch thee jewels from the deep,
And sing while thou on pressed flowers dost sleep
(Shakespeare, A Midsummer Night’s Dream)

Meter
The pattern of stressed and unstressed syllables within the lines of a poem
Example:
WORDS in a SEN-tence you STRESS when you SPEAK.

Syllable
A single unit of sound within a word.
Example:
The dash-es in this sen-tence mark the syll-a-bles.

Verse
Poetry that follows a certain rhythm.
